Made in North Idaho

ABOUT THE STUDIO

Founded by Blake Keys in Sandpoint, Idaho, we specialize in handcrafted stoneware that blends artistry with everyday functionality. From mugs and bowls to commissioned sets, each piece reflects a commitment to quality and a personal touch.

We believe pottery connects people to the beauty of everyday moments. Every piece is made right here in North Idaho by hand without the use of molds, machines, or mass production.

Key & Kiln was born out of pure obsession, late nights in the studio, and a whole lot of clay...everywhere!

OUR PROCESS

Wheel Thrown

Each piece is thrown by hand on the wheel from raw stoneware clay, shaped entirely by hand.

Trimmed & Dried

Carefully trimmed, handled, and dried slowly to prevent cracking before the first fire.

Bisque Fired

First firing hardens the clay and prepares the surface for glaze absorption.

Hand Glazed

Each piece is individually hand-glazed-dipped, poured, or painted. No two are identical.

Glaze Fired to 2,300°F

Final firing vitrifies the clay and fuses the glaze for lasting color, durability, and food safety.
